

Louis and Theo have a rare genetic condition that means they need infusions every second day in Gold Coast University Hospital to keep them alive.

The one-year-old twin boys have spent more days in hospital than at home in their first year of life.

Louis and Theo will likely face a future requiring a kidney transplant due to their genetic condition.

Donate today and help patients like Louis and Theo in Gold Coast public hospitals.